BEING LOCAL MATTERS

Local & Unique

URM has been in business since 1921... that's 98 years as a local leader in food distribution! We started as a retail co-op, then expanded in the 70's with a foodservice division that pulls from a 685,000 square-foot warehouse adjacent to our corporate headquarters in Spokane, Washington.

URM is unique in its distribution structure. Our divisions are: Retail, Foodservice, Convenience Store & Small Grocery and six Cash & Carry Stores.

> "Locally-Owned Businesses Are Much More Likely To Keep Money They Earn In The Community"

Loyalty To The Community Well Being

URM is genuinely loyal and firmly committed to the community's well-being. We know the people behind the product. Having a close understanding of the kind of products our customers are selling we can serve better than a national company.

We strive for your success; building plated menus with innovated recipes; menu consultation; calculating food cost and profit margin; offering creative sources to complement and cross-utilize products; reviewing culinary trends; and assisting with manufacturer and volume rebates. Our dedicated sales professionals think of you as a partner, and have a variety of tools to help your operation run efficiently and to increase sales. Along with the rest of the community, we celebrate when a favorite local restaurant succeeds and we mourn when it's forced to shut its doors. National companies moving in from out of the area have a much larger learning curve and less of an innate connection to those they serve.

Local economic growth holds more valuable opportunities. According to the Locavore Index: Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho have stronger commitments to the "local" movement. That touches our distribution footprint!

Local Decision-Making & Personalized Customer Service

Local ownership ensures that important decisions are made locally by people who live in the community and who will feel the impacts of those decisions. Dealing with a company not from the area, you may be working with people that are so far removed from the decision-making process, there's little concern that the company will lose you as a customer.

When you buy with URM, you are directly connected to a dedicated person who works with you in your area. Our personal approach means any problem you have is taken seriously and a timely remedy is certain.

Having a local sales representative and distribution center nearby means that URM personally knows its customers. We know the products you buy or the services you request on a regular basis, and can tailor services to make your experience even better.

Buying local has benefits beyond mere convenience. When you support URM, your only local distributor, you get a better level of service, as well as helping make your community a better place to live.

"Buying From Local Companies Strengthens The Local Community"

Keeping Dollars Local

In an increasingly homogenized world, communities that preserve their one-of-a-kind local businesses and distinctive character have an economic advantage. Compared to nationally-based companies who infiltrate the region, locally-owned businesses like URM recycle a much larger share of their revenue back into the local economy, enriching the whole community.

According to the economic Impact calculator on IndependentWeStand.org, based on how much URM spends on expenses each year, the calculator indicates that URM puts $48M back into the region. Another way of looking at it is that for every dollar anyone spends with a local company, $0.24 stays in the market versus when you spend that same dollar with a national company only $0.12 stays in the local market. Yet another way to say it is that when you buy local you double the economic contribution versus spending with a national company.

We know that how our economy operates can support and improve the well-being of our people and place, or undermine and degrade it. We are proud of being local and it is important to us to further strengthen the economic base of the whole community. Dollars spent with national corporations quickly fly away and don't return.

We are your customer. Our 2,671 plus employees shop and dine at your businesses, keeping money local and regional. URM supports other local businesses, patronizing our customer's establishments for both business and personal reasons. We are personally invested in buying local and our commitment to community. At URM, our culture encourages and incentivizes its employees to dine, shop and support you, our customer.

Over 60% of all jobs are created by local businesses and employees of local businesses consistently report higher job satisfaction. That local vibe is alive and well in URM's workforce - we are happily celebrating 81 employees this year with service of 10 to 50 years. That equates to 1,400 total years of service. URM is the 6th largest Spokane County employer and the 49th largest private employer in Washington State.

Food safety and quality has become of the utmost importance in the discussion of not only farming, manufacturing, packaging and retailing, but also in transportation.

In terms of perishable, or potentially hazardous foods, the cold chain must not break at any point in the process of farm to table. It is when this cold chain is broken that most mistakes requiring a recall are produced.

At URM, we are devoted to providing the latest in resources and tools to help safeguard your food so you can safeguard your consumers and businesses as well.

Together you are the reason for our success.

In July of 1921, URM set out to build success on teamwork, relationships and partnering. Our progress will continue to be measured not by embracing fads or buzz words, but by the continued use of courtesy and common sense. Tempered with a positive attitude along with a "Can do" approach to achieving solid, measureable results, we are positioned to be strong for the future. The combination of hard-working local people like you, our distribution center, promises to continue providing our customers with the framework for achieving positive growth in future years.
